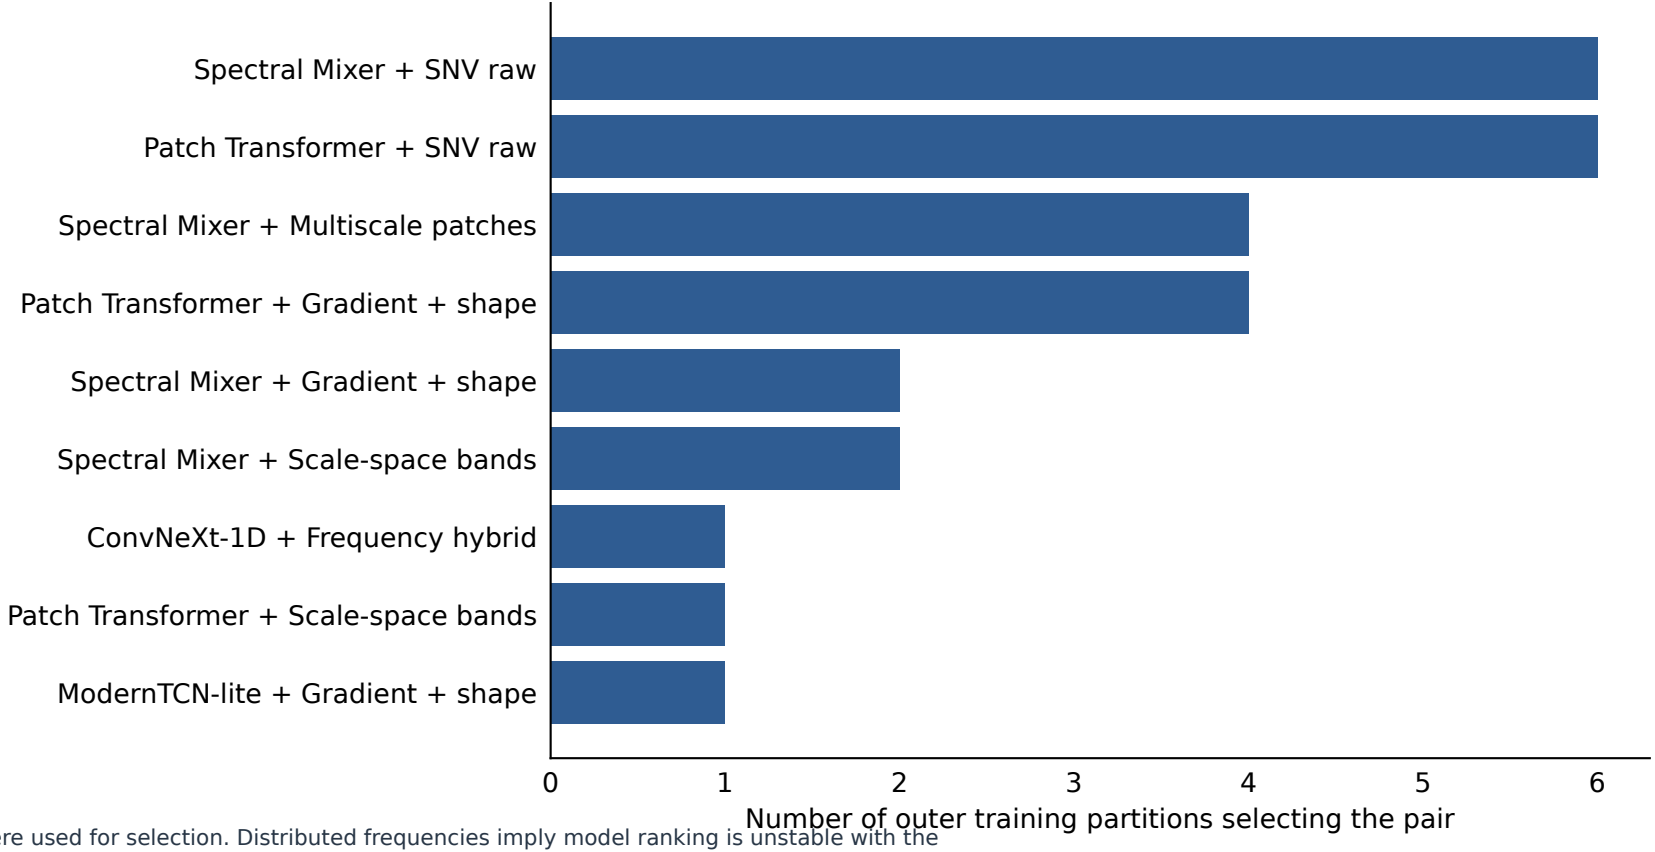
Figure 12 | Model-selection stability across outer training folds



No outer-test labels were used for selection. Distributed frequencies imply model ranking is unstable with the observed patient sample.